

Gateway's 2010 Family Science Night

Our Family Science Night event was established to support and provide encouragement for Gateway students participating in our County Science Fair competition. The students' Science Fair entries are put on display for family and friends to admire during an evening visit to Gateway. From this basic premise grew an opportunity for parents to share a special expertise, hobby, or science interest with our students by leading a science project session during the evening event. All parents are invited to participate!

The most important requirement for a Science Night project is for it to be a hands-on experience that can be done with a group of 8 to 10 budding scientists in about one hour. Projects are grouped into K-4 and 5-8 age ranges and there are two sessions conducted per project during the evening.

This school year's Family Science Night will be held the evening of February 24th, 2010 from 5:30 to 7:30 pm. If you wish to lead a project or help with this event, please contact me by email or phone.

Your participation in Family Science Night 2010 would be most welcome!

Sincerely,

George Delli-Santi
